Top makeup artists and hairstylists share their go-to gear. BY SAMANTHA LEAL

1 Double-Ended Stippling Brush With the right application (first you dab; then you swirl), these two layers of bristles make regular foundation look airbrushed. $25, LauraGeller.com 2 SOHO Brow Groomer Brush Laura Geller swears by this comb because it's the ultimate lash separator. $8, Walgreens.com 3 Sponge Wedges Okay, a pie-shaped sponge isn't revolutionary, but makeup artist Anthea King's tip is: Mark the smudge-correcting wedges with your bridesmaids' initials. $6, Sephora.com 4 Slant Tweezers Makeup artist Fiona Stiles claims this pair has the perfect slant and grip for grabbing every teeny hair. $22, Tweezerman.com 5 Brazilian Heat After Dark 1" Titanium Spring Curling Iron Your strands won't stick to this barrel—even if you're using hair spray, says Rihanna's hairstylist, Tippi Shorter. $70, SallyBeauty.com 6 Mia 2 Sonic Skin Cleansing System This brush is so gentle even ultra-sensitive skin can use it daily. $149, Clarisonic.com 7 Smart Heat Thermal Ceramic and Ion Brush Hair legends Ken Paves and Sally Hershberger say this brush is the best for adding volume at the roots. If that isn't incentive enough to buy it, we don't know what is. $10, Amazon.com 8 Edward Bess Luxury Eye Brush Soft, dome-shaped bristles make this shadow brush a favorite of makeup guru Lori Hamlin. $40, BergdorfGoodman.com 9 Pure Sponge The pointed tip lets you sneak cover-up into every crevice. $20, BeautyBlender.net 10 Reagan Claw Clip The key to a professional-looking blowout is sectioning your hair. These clips have the best grip. $4, Goody.com
